GOVERNOR PRESENTS TROPHY TO WINNER

State's Chief Executive Enjoys His Visit to Albany's Big Dog Show.

AFFAIR IS HUGE SUCCESS

Special efforts were put forth this rear by the Fort Orange Kennel Association of Albany to make its annual show a success, and last Tuesday and Wednesday saw the best show ever held by this association. Not only was the quality of the exhibits a distinct advance over that seen previously at Albany he are the same and the vance over that seen previously at Albany but the entries were all that could be desired in point of numbers. The state armory makes an ideal place for the show, easy to get at and with umple room for the benches and four large judging rings. J. W. Stott, the hard working chairman of the bench show committee, left no stone unturned to insure success and everything was so well arranged for the comfort of both exhibits and exhibits and exhibits and exhibits that there was hibits and exhibitors that there was nothing for the most fastidious to grumble at. Mr. Stott was well backed up by the president, Wyatt T. Mayer, and a capital lot of committeemen who acted

The rings were well attended, which made it possible to do the judging in good time. Harry W. Lacy of Boston was the judge of the unclassified special classes and awarded the president's cup for the best dog or bitch in the show to the wire haired fox terrier Champion Wire Box of Paienton. Goy Charles S. Wire Boy of Paignton. Gov. Charles S. Whitman presented the cup to Wire

The dog that pushed Wire Boy hardest for the trophy was his kennel mate, Champion Raby Dazzler, another won-derful little wire. The winner, however, had the edge on his kennel mate on the day, said the judge, scoring in head, shoulders and coat and shown as fit as It is possible to get.

judging started promptly at 2 o'clock on Tuesday with James Anderson doing the sporting breeds and Dr. C. F. somewhat of a disappointment, the quality was of the highest order and many close decisions were necessary. In pointers Frank H. The core of 113. bitches Bob White Kennels' lemon Belton Bob White Lena, a grand headed one, with best of shoulders and neck, was the winner. She is a quality one and hard to beat in any company. Reserve was the same Kennels' Woodmere Lass, another good sort, but not up to the winner. Cocker spaniels, also judged by James Anderson, ran to quality more than quantity. The classes brought out many good ones and the competition was keen. In black dogs the weil known Champlon Newport Blackboy was the winner, with George W. Dygert's Dark Deal reserve, Winners dogs, other than black, also went to the Peam Craig Kennels, their Newport Peddar II. winning over Mrs. B. F. Lewis's Kernel Drassac. The special for best cocker in the show went to H. S. Holdenby's black bitch Joy, a typical one, with a good head, grand expression, good neck and good body, and above all put down in the ring in the best of condition. Best bitch, any color than black, went to about the best red brought out in some time. The Red Lady, owned by Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Kobler.
